Hospice care schedules training

The hospice option in the care of the terminally ill will be discussed at an open meeting from 9 a.m. to noon Saturday at Olympia Fields Osteopathic medical center.

The meeting is sponsored by Hospice Suburban South, an independent volunteer agency that cooperates with health care professionals in providing hospice care in the south suburbs.

Three additional training sessions for persons interested in becoming hospice volunteers will be conducted from 9 a.m. to noon on March 1, 8 and 15 at the Olympia Fields Osteopathic medical center.

TRAINED HOSPICE volunteers offer support services to the families of terminally ill persons, according to a hospice spokesman. The volunteers are directed and supervised by qualified professionals, who also are volunteers, the spokesman said.

Volunteers also attend monthly meetings for ongoing education and support.

Hospice Suburban South is supported by memorials and contributions from individuals and organizations. The agency charges no fees for its services.

The meeting Saturday is free and open to all persons interested in the hospice concept. Advance registration is not required. Further information is available by telephoning 748-3070.
